FOR PRESIDENT,
BENJAMIN HARRISON,
Of Indiana.
FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,
LEVI P. MORTON,
Of New York.

SATURDAY, JUNE 30, 1888

It is free trade is really such a good thing for the laboring classes as Mr. Grover Cleveland and his Southern allies would have us believe, why do not the laboring classes of the United States all flock to England and Ireland and Germany and Italy where it now is in full operation, where it runs and is glorified? One would suppose that these classes of our population would be very foolish to stay in the United States and be ground into the very earth by protection when they could go right over to these European countries and be saved from all of protection's burdens. You may rake the steers of all the ocean steamers that go from this country to Europe with a fine-tooth comb from one year's end to another, and you cannot find one person returning to Europe for any such purpose. You will find here and there a man going back to visit the home of his childhood and to display the money he has accumulated in America under the reign of Protection. All these people tell how much better off they are here than they or their relatives ever were in the home of their birth. All this forms an absolutely unanswerable argument in favor of the American system, which should never be lost sight of for a moment by those who would be the most injured by the inauguration of the proposed free trade system of the Democratic party. Do American laboring men desire to descend to the level of the laboring classes in the Old World? If so, there is no more certain and direct way than to support the Democratic party and candidates this year.

The Salt Lake Tribune says: Four years ago President Cleveland refused to give Allen G. Thurman a place in his cabinet. Last week Henry Waterson said: "I fail to see the genius in bringing that old man out from among his books to an almost sure funeral. His decrepitude is well understood. When a man can hardly walk what do you want to put him in the next place but one to the President for?" Last October ex-Minister Jackson made a speech on the occasion of Jeff Davis' visit to Macon in which he got down and wallowed in the dirt that Jeff Davis had walked over. When Thurman heard of it he said Jackson was "a fool, a crank, an idiot and a mischief-maker." Pope Barrow headed the Georgia delegation to St. Louis breathing fire and vengeance upon Thurman's head. But suddenly Mr. Cleveland expresses the wish to have Mr. Thurman nominated for Vice-President and the others all fall in and finally make the nomination unanimous. The discipline of the party is nearly equal to that of the Mormon Church.

Four lynchings in one day in Kansas indicate that the law and the people are not altogether in harmony. The Kansas law, providing that convicted murderers be sent to the Penitentiary for one year and then hanged or permitted to remain in life-long imprisonment, at the option of the Governor, results in practically abolishing capital punishment. It is copied from the Maine law, which worked very well, but perhaps the steady-going Down East community required less restraint than the breezy population of the cyclone State.

A KENTUCKY DEMON.

He Deliberately Shoots Down His Brother and Wife.

LOUISVILLE, June 29.—Word reached here this afternoon from Harlan that on Saturday Marion Stewart shot and killed his wife and his brother at their home near that place. Marion and John Stewart, Tip Osborne and Jeff Hall were playing cards, when a dispute over some point in the game arose. All had been drinking and blows passed. Marion then drew a navy revolver and shot John through the brain. He turned to shoot Osborne, who was his step-son. Osborne intervened and got a bullet in the temple. Osborne by this time had escaped, and Stewart turned his attention to Hall. Hall got away, but came back half an hour later, when Stewart again tried to kill him, but Hall again escaped. Seeing his wife lying dead outside the door and his brother in a dying condition inside, Stewart turned to his eldest daughter, fourteen years old, and said: "Good-by; do the best you can for the children," and started up the mountain side. The children carried their dead mother into the house, where their father's brother was dying.

Mrs. Stewart leaves seven children, the oldest fourteen years of age and the youngest a baby nursing. John Stewart leaves a small family. No attempt at arrest has been made, although Tip Osborne has sworn vengeance against Stewart for killing his mother.

BENEFITS OF IRRIGATION.

The Sage of Sageland Tells How Great Lakes Might be Made.

Along the base of the Sierras among the foothills may be found narrow valleys lying between the main range and parallel hills where immense artificial lakes of great depth could be formed at small cost—only that of walling up the ends, and in some instances but one end. There the water could be stored secure from floods and would be as manageable as so much water in an ordinary wooden tank.

When a ranchman has at command a store of water he is independent of the freaks of the clerk of the weather he holds in his own hands the means of securing a crop. As proper irrigation gives more than double the crops that can be grown in most of the Eastern States, where the farmers are dependent upon the natural rainfall, and makes a crop sure every year, our land owners certainly ought to be willing to pay something to thus insure themselves. When the work is once properly done it is done for all time. Some of the most ancient works to be seen in India and other Oriental countries are the storage "tanks" or reservoirs. We have in this country in hundreds of places unappropriated sites for such works greater than the greatest of those of India or Ceylon, places where these smaller reservoirs are sometimes as large as the largest of the Ceylon tanks can be made.

The men who secure and improve these sites have in their hands a sure fortune for all time, as the man who has the water has a sure thing on the lands below and the men who own them. In Colorado they are beginning to understand this and great irrigation companies are springing up there. The San Luis Park Canal irrigates 400,000 acres, the State Land Canal 140,000 acres, Citizens' Canal 140,000 acres, Del Norte and Saguache Canal 100,000 acres, and many other canals smaller areas in other regions, as the water for all the above mentioned is taken from one stream—the Rio Grande River.

In Wyoming are a great number of large irrigating canals. Not a few of these are owned by Colorado capitalists who have found that irrigation works are the best paying properties that can be got hold of. As yet not many large storage reservoirs have been constructed in these countries. They are now going for what water can be had by tapping and turning rivers and large creeks. It was even found necessary, last year, for the Governor of Nebraska to send a message to the Governor of Colorado protesting against any more water being taken out of the South Platte, as it was drying up the stream—no South Platte was left down in Nebraska.

In Montana and Idaho great canals and irrigation works are being constructed, and the men and companies who own these will about the same as own the country and all the farmers in it. Up there they have large rivers that flow to the sea, and as yet have not given much attention to the question of water storage, but by means of proper systems of reservoirs, they will presently be able to more than double the supply obtainable through the natural flow.

Unless our people in Nevada secure the sites for storage reservoirs, and other irrigation works, that are now going a begging, the first thing you know some of the Colorado capitalists, or capitalists from some other wide-awake region, will come in and gobble them up. In such a country as this the sites who commands the water commands the soil; he is boss.

Irrigation in the whole country is as yet in its infancy. In California it is probably better understood than anywhere else; but even there they have hardly made a beginning. There are still each year whole rivers of water flowing away to the sea. The time will come when the whole Sierra Nevada range will be filled with storage reservoirs, great systems of them, reservoirs below reservoir down through all the foothills to the edges of the great valleys, and the soil will be filled almost to the mountain tops. The most densely populated countries in the world are those that practice irrigation, as crops are thus made sure. In India, Ceylon and other eastern countries, there have been great famines in some sections, but these were brought on by the breaking down and destruction of the great storage reservoirs and irrigation works in their wars. The destruction of an enemy's reservoirs, aqueducts and canals was the destruction of the enemy himself—root and branch. Famine did the remainder of the work—swept away both great and small.

In places in the Eastern States where they now raise half-crops, and some years no crops at all, they might even now practice irrigation very profitably. By having water to turn upon their fields at times when drouth is parching their crops, they would obtain a full yield. Of course, irrigation is everywhere practicable, but in thousands of places in the older States are large areas of land upon which water could be carried, then they would see their fields bloom as their gardens now blossom under the timely showerings of the sprinkling pot. What is good for a small patch of land is good for a large one.

DAN DE QUILLE.

A Noted Character Dead.

ELKTON, Md., June 30.—Thomas B. Lincoln, the grand nephew of General Lincoln of Revolutionary fame, the only person tried for treason for complicity in the late civil war, and for whom Jesse D. Bright was expelled from the United States Senate for writing a letter of introduction to Jeff Davis, died Tuesday on his farm, not far from Elkton. He was born in Philadelphia in 1813. He was a leading member of the Knights of the Golden Circle, whose agent he was when arrested in Cincinnati in 1861. He was tried for treason, but the indictment was quashed on the ground of unconstitutionality. In April, 1865, with the approval of the Confederate Vice-President, A. H. Stevens, he went to Washington and furnished the Federal Government with important information, which was used in hastening the end of the Confederacy. For this he was appointed to a lucrative position, his duties being to look after the confiscated cotton.

BLAINE'S CHOICE.

The Plumed Knight's Representative Helped the Hoosier.

CHICAGO, June 30.—R. C. Kerens, of St. Louis, who, next to S. B. Elkins, was Blaine's chief lieutenant in the Chicago Convention, has given out a part, at least, of the inside facts regarding the nomination of Harrison. Said Mr. Kerens:

"There was no time during the Convention that we could not have nominated Blaine by a large majority, and no time when we could have honorably nominated him. That was the whole trouble. We could do it any time, and we couldn't do it any time. Of course it was we who nominated Harrison. In the Convention four years ago General Harrison, at a most critical period in the balloting, gave Blaine seventeen of the votes of Indiana and Blaine's friends have not forgotten that. But that is not all. General Harrison was the warmest friend, the most disinterested and loyal friend, that Blaine had in the Convention. General Harrison was the man who had the magnanimity, the absolute lack of selfishness, to propose first to withdraw from the race in Blaine's favor. There were no conditions, there was no anything in it but pure loyalty to the party."

"Then General Harrison would have taken his name from the Convention had Blaine's friends requested that it should be done."

"Yes, he would." "Would Sherman?" "No, he would not. Mr. Sherman believed that he could have forced a nomination and he declared that he would fight it out, if it took it all summer. Well, the result was that we nominated Harrison."

WATERSON SPEAKS.

He Makes a Vigorous Attack on the Republican Platform.

LOUISVILLE, June 30.—In the course of a speech last night at the great Democratic ratification meeting held here Henry Waterson said of the Republican platform: "The issue forced upon the country by the Republicans is not one of protection against free trade. Let no protectionist so delude himself. If there be any, however, who seek to precipitate free trade, literally to burn down the factories and blow up the Custom Houses, he should support this Republican platform, and bid God speed to its prompt application and rigid enforcement, because if its terms could be carried out, in good faith, it would culminate in such a glut of an already supplied home market and such consequent loss of employment to the American operative, as would surely bring the whole edifice down upon its authors like the original ordinances of secession which laid the ax of revolution at the very root of the tree of slavery, though meant to save it. It is the first step yet taken in the United States toward the complete overthrow of the customs system."

Sacramento Without Laws.

SACRAMENTO, June 30.—A decision was rendered yesterday by which the city is left without laws. The case was one against a bootblack for obstruction. The fact was brought out that the ordinances now used, and which appear in book form were never ordered or accepted by the City Trustees, or appeared as required by law, in any newspaper. The records of the Board of Trustees were shown in court, but they failed to show that the ordinances ever had been adopted. The case was decided in favor of the defendant, in accordance with the opinion rendered by the Supreme Court in a similar suit at Napa.

Carey's Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Controller Durham of the Treasury has succeeded in defeating District Attorney Carey of San Francisco, in his claim for $24,000 due him for special service in habeas corpus cases. Durham considered the claim extortionate, and submitted it to the Appropriation Committee of the House, so if they deemed it expedient to pay it, they could make an appropriation for it. The committee agreed with the Controller, and would make no appropriation. Carey's only course now is to bring suit in a United States Court.

Thurman Accepts.

COLUMBUS, June 30.—The committee selected by the Democratic Convention to notify Cleveland and Thurman of their nomination arrived here yesterday and proceeded at once to Thurman's residence, when they performed the duty assigned them. The Judge responded in a characteristic speech, and promised to write a letter of acceptance in due time. Before the party left the house Collins and White, Chairman and temporary Chairman of the St. Louis Convention, were each presented with a gold-headed cane.

Mrs. O'Leary's Famous Cow Kicked over a lamp, and Chicago, the bustling young metropolis of the West, was laid in ruins. This is a striking illustration of the old saying that "great results have small beginnings." The neglected cold, the hacking cough of to-day, may, a few months hence, develop into that direst of distresses, consumption. Be warned in time. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, if taken in the first stages of this dreaded disease, is a certain cure. It is also a sovereign remedy for asthma, bronchitis, sore throat, chronic nasal catarrh, and all diseases of the respiratory organs. The cleansing antiseptic and healing qualities of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy are unequalled.

Merit Wins.
We desire to say to our citizens that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have their great popularity purely on their merits. S. J. Hodgkinson Co., druggist.

PLATFORM AND RESOLUTIONS

The following platform and resolutions were adopted by the Republican State Convention, which convened at Winnemucca on the 15th instant:

The Republicans of the State of Nevada, in Convention assembled, again express their loyalty to the principles of the Republican party, which have made us so great and so prosperous during the last quarter of a century.

Resolved, That the question of a sufficient supply of circulating medium to maintain a permanent range of the price of labor and property is the most important political question awaiting solution by the American people.

That a diminishing quantity of money reduces the price of labor and property, enriches the creditor, impoverishes the debtor, and paralyzes industry and enterprise.

That the present financial system of the United States, which increases or diminishes the circulating medium at the pleasure of the manipulators of the national banks, without regard to the interests of the people, and places in the hands of the Treasury Department all the revenue of the Government to speculate with in bonds and loan to the national banks without interest, is subversive of the rights of the people, oppressive, unjust and should be replaced by a financial policy whereby both gold and silver shall form the basis of circulation, whether the money is loaned to the people, or coin certificates redeemable in coin, or both, as convenience may require, is imperatively demanded.

That the attempt to substitute national bank notes, costing the Government millions of dollars annually for free silver, costing nothing, is an outrage upon the people; that the money ring or trust, which has usurped the sovereignty of the Government to issue money, and which has fraudulently debauched silver and seized the revenues of the Government for private speculation, shocks the moral sense of the people and destroys respect for government and law. We demand that a ring or trust be destroyed, and equal rights be restored to all the people.

We charge that President Cleveland is the willing tool or agent of a powerful money ring, which fattens on the taxes of the Government, makes war on silver, issues its paper currency at the expense of the Government, borrows for its issue by taxation and uses them without the payment of interest, contracts the currency to enhance the value of bonds and enriches speculators, while it depresses the price of labor and property.

That we favor the nomination of no man or President who is personally interested in national banks or the bonded indebtedness of the United States, but we demand a candidate who is free to do justice to all the people of the country—the poor as well as the rich.

That the trick of the President and his advisers by which they prevented a vote in the House of Representatives on the Beck silver amendment to the Bond Purchase bill, equals the villainy of the secret and fraudulent demonstration of silver in 1873.

Resolved, That we are in favor of the protection of home industry, and that the shrewdness

A CHAPTER OF FATALITIES.

A Placer County Mine That Has Been Unlucky to Its Owners.

In speaking of the late accident at the Belmont mine at Ophir, Placer county, California, the Grass Valley Union says: This completes a chapter of fatalities in connection with the mine.

The location joins the Belmont claim, upon which a few years ago expensive works were erected under the superintendency of Charles Strong, who in early Comstock days was the Superintendent of the Gould & Curry mine at a large salary.

Some time after the completion of the works the developments in the mine was not satisfactory, and to add to the discouragement it was not long before the works were destroyed by fire. This had a very depressing effect upon Mr. Strong, who had invested all his means in the enterprise, and preyed so much upon his mind that he committed suicide by shooting himself with a revolver.

Some time after the Pearsden brothers—there were then three of them—and Hawkins put up hoisting works on the Belmont shaft, from which they drifted into and worked their own ground, and have been doing so with varying results for the last two or three years, but altogether have not been very successful.

About one year ago one of the Pearsden brothers was killed by a cave in the mine, and now the mine has proven the tomb of his remaining brothers, and partner. Truly a train of calamities.

A Strange Find.

A day or two since, says the Enterprise, the miners in the Chollar found in an old drift on the 450-level a coat much decayed, in the pocket of which was a silver watch.

The cases of the watch were in a good state of preservation but the works were a mass of rust. How the watch has been in the mine and to whom it belonged is a mystery which is puzzling the Chollar boys not a little.

MRS. D. F. BOWERS.
The Eminent Tragedienne to Appear in "Queen Elizabeth."

G. M. Welty, business manager for Mrs. D. F. Bowers, arrived in Reno to-day for the purpose of completing arrangements for the appearance of the distinguished actress at the Opera House next Friday evening, July 6th.

"Queen Elizabeth" is selected as the play to be presented on the opening night. During the engagement of Mrs. Bowers at the Baldwin theater in San Francisco the Call dramatic critic wrote as follows: "The presentation by Mrs. D. F. Bowers of Queen Elizabeth, with its splendid breadth and fullness of characterization, has convinced a few of our stage ladies who thought they had gained the pinnacles of the Thespian temple and were in possession of all the mysteries of the Muse that they have scarcely passed the propyleum. Such flushed and massive acting as Mrs. Bowers has favored us with will have a wholesome effect upon that young ambition and zeal, which, without proper equipment, intellectually as well as technically, seeks to usurp leading places on the stage."

The eminent tragedienne will give two evening entertainments and a matinee, with a change of programme on each appearance. She is accompanied by first-class support and even brings with her Robert Eberley, king of stage managers. The box-seat for Mrs. Bowers' engagement will be opened at Nasby's Bazaar Monday, and reserve seats can be secured for one night or for the entire season.

Dunne is confined in the Ormsby county jail. He acknowledges that he killed the son of the late chief in the manner heretofore described, and justifies the act on the ground that his victim was molesting the affection of his (Dunne's) giddy squaw by ridiculing him (Dunne) on account of his inferior personal attractions.

The Fire Department.
Matters in the fire department, of which so much was and is expected, are evidently at a standstill. Three weeks ago a committee was appointed by the Board of Fire Trustees for the purpose of making needed improvements, such as enlarging the engine-house and erecting a hose-house on the south side of the bank, which the GAZETTE understands will deny the money necessary for the proposed improvements, if an official request is made. The fire department has been organized now over three months, and the members of the several companies are beginning to show signs of discontent at the manner in which the department is being treated by "the powers that be," and unless some action is taken a defection from the ranks of the fire adds may be expected.

A "Light-house of Hell."
